FIGHTERBASE

Lacto-vegetarian

Diet guide

Vegetarian without eggs. Dairy included.

Prepared 10 October 2026 for FighterBase members. Eating styles library, one of a set.

> DRAFT: not yet reviewed by a registered dietitian. General information only, not medical advice. Check with your doctor or a registered dietitian before changing how you eat, especially if you have a medical condition, are pregnant, or are under 18.

USING FIGHTERBASE

How to use this diet guide

This diet guide is part of your eating styles library in the FighterBase app. The pages that follow are built to be skimmed. You do not need to read it all at once.

1. Open Nutrition
   In the app, open the Nutrition tab and tap Eating styles.

2. Tap Lacto-vegetarian
   Read the short summary, what to eat, what to go easy on, and what to watch.

3. Follow it
   Tap Follow this style. Recipes and the Foods list then filter to match, so you only see what fits. You can follow more than one style.

4. Download the PDFs
   Use Full food list and Diet guide to save these to your phone. Handy for the shop or a restaurant.

5. Log it and train
   Meals you log count towards your day. Spend your energy on training, not on reading labels.

> Looking for the full list of foods? Download the Full food list PDF from the same screen. It names every allowed and avoided food.

THE BASICS

What is Lacto-vegetarian?

No meat, fish or eggs, but dairy included. Common in Indian and some faith traditions.

Where it comes from

A traditional form of vegetarianism, common in Hindu and Jain communities. It avoids meat, fish and eggs, and includes dairy.

The main ideas

1. No meat, poultry, fish, shellfish or eggs, or foods containing them (mayonnaise, many cakes, fresh pasta, some bread).
2. Dairy (milk, yoghurt, paneer, ghee, cheese) is included.
3. Beans, lentils, tofu and dairy are the main proteins.

Who it suits

- People following religious or cultural traditions that avoid eggs
- People who avoid eggs for ethical reasons

Talk to your doctor or a registered dietitian first if:

- You are pregnant or breastfeeding
- You are a child or teenager
- You have signs of low iron or B12

TRAINING

Fuel for training

- Paneer, yoghurt, milk, lentils, chickpeas and tofu supply protein.
- Rice, roti, potatoes, oats and fruit cover carbs around training.
- Lentils plus rice or bread is a classic complete-protein combination.
- Add a post-training lassi or milk and banana.

> Dal and rice, paneer, yoghurt and milk make easy fuel and recovery.

Nutrients to keep an eye on

Iron
no meat or eggs
Where: lentils, beans, greens, fortified cereal, jaggery in small amounts

Vitamin B12
dairy helps
Where: milk, yoghurt, cheese, fortified foods

Omega-3
no fish or eggs
Where: walnuts, flax, chia, algae supplement

Protein
plan across the day
Where: dairy, lentils, tofu, tempeh, nuts

Common mistakes

- Hidden egg in baked goods, pasta, mayonnaise and some sauces
- Relying on fried snacks
- Too much ghee and cheese
- No plan for iron

EVERYDAY LIFE

Labels, eating out and swaps

Reading labels

- Egg, albumin, lysozyme, ovalbumin, egg lecithin (E322 may come from egg)
- Gelatine and animal rennet
- Many fresh pastas, noodles and cakes contain egg

Eating out

- Indian vegetarian restaurants are naturally suitable: dal, paneer, chana masala, sabzi.
- Check noodles, cakes, sauces and mayonnaise for egg.

Easy swaps

Eggs for breakfast	→	Paneer bhurji, tofu scramble or yoghurt and oats
Mayonnaise	→	Hummus or yoghurt dressing
Egg noodles	→	Rice noodles
Cake with egg	→	Egg-free cake

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE

A sample week

One way a week could look. Portions and total food depend on you and your training.

	Breakfast	Lunch	Dinner
Mon	Porridge, banana, nuts	Dal and rice	Paneer and vegetable curry with roti
Tue	Yoghurt, fruit, granola	Chickpea salad wrap	Tofu stir-fry with rice noodles
Wed	Peanut butter toast, fruit	Vegetable soup and bread	Rajma (kidney bean) and rice
Thu	Paneer bhurji on toast	Hummus and veg wrap	Lentil pasta with tomato sauce
Fri	Overnight oats	Cheese and bean jacket potato	Chana masala with rice
Sat	Idli or dosa with sambar	Salad with paneer	Vegetable biryani with raita
Sun	Smoothie with yoghurt and oats	Leftovers bowl	Dal and roasted vegetables

Snacks

Lassi · Fruit and nuts · Roasted chickpeas · Yoghurt · Hummus and veg

Shopping list

Milk, yoghurt, paneer, cheese · Lentils, chickpeas, kidney beans · Tofu · Rice, oats, wholemeal flour, roti · Vegetables and fruit · Nuts and seeds

GOOD TO KNOW

Questions people ask

Is mayonnaise OK?

No, regular mayonnaise contains egg. Look for egg-free versions.

Where do I get omega-3?

Walnuts, flax, chia and hemp give ALA. An algae-based supplement gives EPA and DHA.

For fighters and combat athletes

- No eating style makes a rapid weight cut safe. Sweating, fluid restriction and crash diets hurt performance and can be dangerous. Plan any weight cut with a registered sports dietitian and your coach, well before the weigh-in.
- Fuel the training first. Hard sparring and conditioning need carbohydrate and enough total food. If a style cuts a food group, have a plan to replace what is lost.
- Protein across the day. A common general range for people training hard is about 1.4 to 2.0 g per kg of body weight a day (draft range, to be confirmed by a dietitian).
- Try changes in training, never in fight week. Test new foods, supplements and timing well before competition.
- Under 18, pregnant, or with a medical condition: get advice from a doctor or dietitian before changing your diet.
