FIGHTERBASE

Time-restricted eating

Food list

Every allowed and avoided food, by type. All food within a set window, e.g. 8 hours.

Prepared 11 October 2026 for FighterBase members. Eating styles library, one of a set.

> DRAFT: not yet reviewed by a registered dietitian. General information only, not medical advice. Check with your doctor or a registered dietitian before changing how you eat, especially if you have a medical condition, are pregnant, or are under 18.

USING FIGHTERBASE

How to use this quick guide

This quick guide is part of your eating styles library in the FighterBase app. The pages that follow are built to be skimmed. You do not need to read it all at once.

1. Open Nutrition
   In the app, open the Nutrition tab and tap Eating styles.

2. Tap Time-restricted eating
   Read the short summary, what to eat, what to go easy on, and what to watch.

3. Follow it
   Tap Follow this style. Recipes and the Foods list then filter to match, so you only see what fits. You can follow more than one style.

4. Download the PDFs
   Use Quick timing guide and Diet guide to save these to your phone. Handy for the shop or a restaurant.

5. Log it and train
   Meals you log count towards your day. Spend your energy on training, not on reading labels.

> Time-restricted eating is an eating pattern, so it has a timing guide instead of a list of banned foods.

AT A GLANCE

Time-restricted eating on one page

When you eat, not what. All meals fit in a daily window (16:8 is common: 16 hours without food, 8 hours eating). Combine with any style.

The big ideas

1. Pick an eating window (for example 10am to 6pm, or 12 to 8pm) and stick to it most days.
2. Outside the window: water, black coffee and plain tea only.
3. Inside the window: eat proper meals with enough protein and carbs.
4. The 16:8 plan (16 hours fasting, 8 hours eating) is the most common. Shorter fasts like 12:12 or 14:10 are gentler.
5. Total food still matters: eating less overall is what changes weight.

Timing guide

Item	During the fast	In the eating window
Water, sparkling water	Fine	Fine
Black coffee, plain tea	Fine (no sugar, milk or cream)	Fine
Coffee with milk, sugar or cream	Breaks the fast	Fine
Fruit juice, smoothies, sports drinks	Breaks the fast	Fine, in moderation
Bone broth, soup	Breaks the fast (has calories)	Fine
Meals and snacks	Breaks the fast	This is when you eat
Supplements without calories (vitamins, creatine powder in water)	Usually fine	Fine
Protein shakes, gels, BCAAs, gummies	Break the fast	Fine

Talk to a professional first if: You have diabetes or take medication that needs food; You are pregnant, breastfeeding or under 18; You have ever had an eating disorder; You are training hard or cutting weight for a fight; You have low blood pressure or feel faint easily.

READ THE LABEL

Hidden things to look out for

- Technically breaks a fast: anything with calories (milk, sugar, juice, most 'diet' drinks that carry calories, bone broth, creamers)
- Usually fine outside the window: water, plain tea, black coffee, sparkling water
- Supplements: check for calories, e.g. BCAAs, gummies

For fighters and combat athletes

- No eating style makes a rapid weight cut safe. Sweating, fluid restriction and crash diets hurt performance and can be dangerous. Plan any weight cut with a registered sports dietitian and your coach, well before the weigh-in.
- Fuel the training first. Hard sparring and conditioning need carbohydrate and enough total food. If a style cuts a food group, have a plan to replace what is lost.
- Protein across the day. A common general range for people training hard is about 1.4 to 2.0 g per kg of body weight a day (draft range, to be confirmed by a dietitian).
- Try changes in training, never in fight week. Test new foods, supplements and timing well before competition.
- Under 18, pregnant, or with a medical condition: get advice from a doctor or dietitian before changing your diet.
